Workshops regarding mandatory commercial recycling

MERCED, Calif., Mon. Sept. 13, 2011 – Merced County Association of Governments (MCAG) on behalf of the Merced County Regional Waste Management Authority will hold public recycling information workshops on the mandatory commercial recycling measure that will go in effect statewide next year.

In 2012, commercial businesses, multi-family complexes and public entities that generate four or more cubic yards of trash per week will be required to implement recycling programs. According to the California Department of Recycling Resources and Recovery (CalRecycle), the commercial sector is responsible for at least 68% of all trash disposed of within California, with much of it being potentially recyclable material.

The countywide workshops will include a presentation outlining the proposed regulation and how those affected can implement a recycling program. Questions from the public will be addressed throughout the workshop.
